I can help you with that! All devices should have call forwarding on their subscription by default.

In order to turn your forwarding on/off, I have a great tool for you to use for all your device support needs. Click here to select your device and get easy to follow steps for call forwarding.

Other topics are available like voicemail, hotspots and how to back up and restore your device along with a complete users manual!
